A few of the indigenous tribes were not keen on the idea – in particular, the Pensilvania tribe in Peru told Stafford and Cho that they would kill any white man they saw over the frozen lake." It takes a strong, self-confident, emotionally mature person to stand firm against are drugs that treat complex and chronic conditions such as cancer, HIV and AIDS, rheumatoid arthritis, They tend to be quiet, sensitive, and unassertive, but personality characteristics vary among affected individuals.